

GolfWRX Feedback System

Overview

A basic CRUD system for user to user 'feedback' management built as an "AddOn" to a Hosted Vanilla Forums instance.

The scope of v1 of this project is to replicate a legacy customization that was built on Invision Power Board into VanillaForums Hosted.

Each feedback record needs to consist of: From User (authenticated user), To User, Referenced Vanilla discussion, Score (Positive[+1], Negative[-1], Neutral[0]), Comment.

The second component is the display of each users feedback score on both their user profile page and in the user section next to each 'Comment' left in a 'Discussion'.

The third component of the feedback system is an Admin view for data adjustments.

**Step one of this process will be to write an overview of how you intend to architect the implementation. This will require approval by the core team at VanillaForums prior to work starting. Their development documentation is linked below.

Legacy Data Structure

Legacy data will need to be imported into this new deployment. The legacy data structure consists of three tables. In the old system, a users feedback score was also rolled up into the user table. There definitions are explained below:

| Table: ibf_feedback |                                   |      |     |                     |                |
| Field               | Type                              | Null | Key | Default             | Extra          |
| id                  | int(11) unsigned                  | No   | PRI | NULL                | auto_increment |
| member              | int(11)                           | No   |     | 0                   |                |
| type                | enum('Good', 'Bad', 'Neutral')    | No   |     | Good                |                |
